Robison, Curphey & O'Connell participates in Law and Leadership Institute program

TOLEDO, OHIO – Robison, Curphey & O'Connell, is proud to have participated in the 2011 Law and Leadership Institute Summer Internship program. The internship program is designed to provide students with real experience in the world of law. With a comprehensive schedule, the internship provided students with an introduction to the professional setting; allowed them to tackle legal problems and projects for which they received feedback from supervising attorneys; afforded them the opportunity to interact with attorneys; let them learn about the legal community; and encouraged them to believe they can be attorneys one day.

In the summer of 2008, the Supreme Court of Ohio launched the first Law and Leadership Institute, a pipeline program designed to help increase the diversity of Ohio's law schools and the legal profession. Today the Law and Leadership Institute LLC is a statewide collaboration with the legal community that inspires and prepares students from underserved communities for post-secondary and professional success through a comprehensive four-year academic program in law, leadership, analytical thinking, problem solving, writing skills and professionalism.

Robison, Curphey & O'Connell is a regional law firm which has been providing legal counsel to individuals and businesses for more than a century. With an experienced team of attorneys and professional staff, the firm is committed to serve its clients and exceed their expectations.
