

Craig J. Van Horsten

Of Counsel

About Craig

Craig focuses his practice on commercial real estate property, business transactions, and nonprofit organizations. Craig serves clients ranging from Fortune 500 manufacturing companies to local businesses and nonprofit entities. His clients actively involve him in all phases of real property transactions - ranging from listing agreements to lease agreements. He is equally involved with business transactions and nonprofit organizations.

Originally from Connecticut, Craig has lived in Ohio for many years. Following his graduation from The Ohio State University Moritz College of Law in 1976, Craig was associated with another Toledo law firm before joining Robison, Curphey & O'Connell in 2006.

Among his professional associations and volunteer experience, Craig served as Chair of the Ohio State Bar Association Real Property Law Section Council (2011-2013).
